GUIGNOL SCENE—Three members of the cast of the next Guignol Players' production, "The Lady's Not For Burning," are shown at a dress rehearsal. Thomas Mendip, played by Floyd Cammack, and Jenet Jourdemayne, enacted by Lois Cammack, attempt to comfort Richard, an orphan clerk, played by Ben Ardery, over his unhappy love affair. The play will run Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Guignol Players Give Christopher Fry Play

Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not For Burning" will be the next production of the Guignol Players next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the Guignol Theater, Fine Arts Building. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Directed by Don Allen Clayton, this lyrical comedy was one of the first productions by Fry, a modern dramatist. This is the first time it has been produced in Kentucky.

Pessimist Wants To Die
A satire on contemporary life, "The Lady's Not For Burning" is set in a 15th century English market town. It is the story of Thomas, a pessimist who wants the townspeople to hang him because he is discouraged with life, and Jenet, a convicted witch whom the people are about to burn at the stake.

Staff Members Include
The staff includes Loraine McGlone, assistant manager; Sandy Ingram, stage manager; Jim Read and George Moore, lighting; Jim Read and Ben Ardery, sets; Mrs. Lolo Robinson, costumes; Jim Holloway, makeup; and Clare Wood and Charles Petras, publicity, box office, and special effects.

Tickets will go on sale Monday and will be available from 12 noon to 5 p.m. through Thursday at the Guignol box office, Extension 2396. Admission for reserved seats is 50 cents.

Phys Ed Majors Visit Cardinal Hill

In order to study physical therapy as a possible profession, the women's orientation class in Professional Physical Education, visited Cardinal Hill Convalescent Hospital recently. Miss Louise Sandford, administrator of the hospital, lectured to the group on the objectives of Cardinal Hill, after which the students took a conducted tour through the occupational and physical therapy wards.

Members of the class who went to the hospital, were Barbara Arnett, Shirley Duncan, Mary Estes, Helen Vance Gilb, Patricia Honshul, Velma Kelley, Dorothy McPhail, Myrna Milby, Ellen Murphy, Rhea Peacher, Mary Priestley, Jane Rizer, and Sidney Stone.

They were accompanied by Dr. Martha Carr, their instructor, and head of the Women's Physical Education Department. Members of the professional physical education class, which is a required course for all majors, have heard several speakers this semester on various occupational branches. Aptitude tests are also given to help the instructor and the students determine whether they are in the right field.

IFC Plans Talks On Rush, Dance

UK's Interfraternity Council will meet at 7 p.m., Tuesday in Room 128 of the Student Union, Jess Gardner, IFC president, announced this week. The purpose of the meeting, Gardner said, will be to discuss fraternity rush, Greek Week activities, and the next annual IFC dance.

Poll Hints Approval Of System

Secrecy Policy Gets Criticism

By KEN LITCHFIELD

Should the Judiciary Committee of SGA continue its present practice of keeping secret all disciplinary cases brought before the group for punishment?

An informal survey of University student opinion indicates practically unanimous approval for the current system. Most students in the poll believe that any announcement or publication of disciplinary action would only lead to further embarrassment for the punished individual.

One bad aspect, as mentioned in the survey, noted the tendency for rumors and mis-information to spread in the absence of any definite positive announcement or notice from the committee.

Judiciary Committee In Charge
Occupying the spotlight in this question of secrecy or public information is the six-member Judiciary Committee of SGA. All violations of established standards of conduct among students are referred to this group for recommended disciplinary punishment.

It has long been the practice of this student disciplinary group to refuse to make known any circumstances concerning the cases brought before it. In fact, so secret is this information that not even the F.B.I. can secure any punishment data.

As Dean A. D. Kirwan, faculty adviser of SGA, points out, committee members and University officials have taken the stand that the public has no business knowing the disposition of student infractions. The policy of refusing the F.B.I. and other governmental agencies has been adopted just recently. Dean Kirwan contends that a student's misdeed or actions should not be used against him in later years by any governmental investigating body.

But what do the students themselves think of this practice? Do they approve of the secrecy?

Student Survey Made
A random check of student opinion revealed these observations:

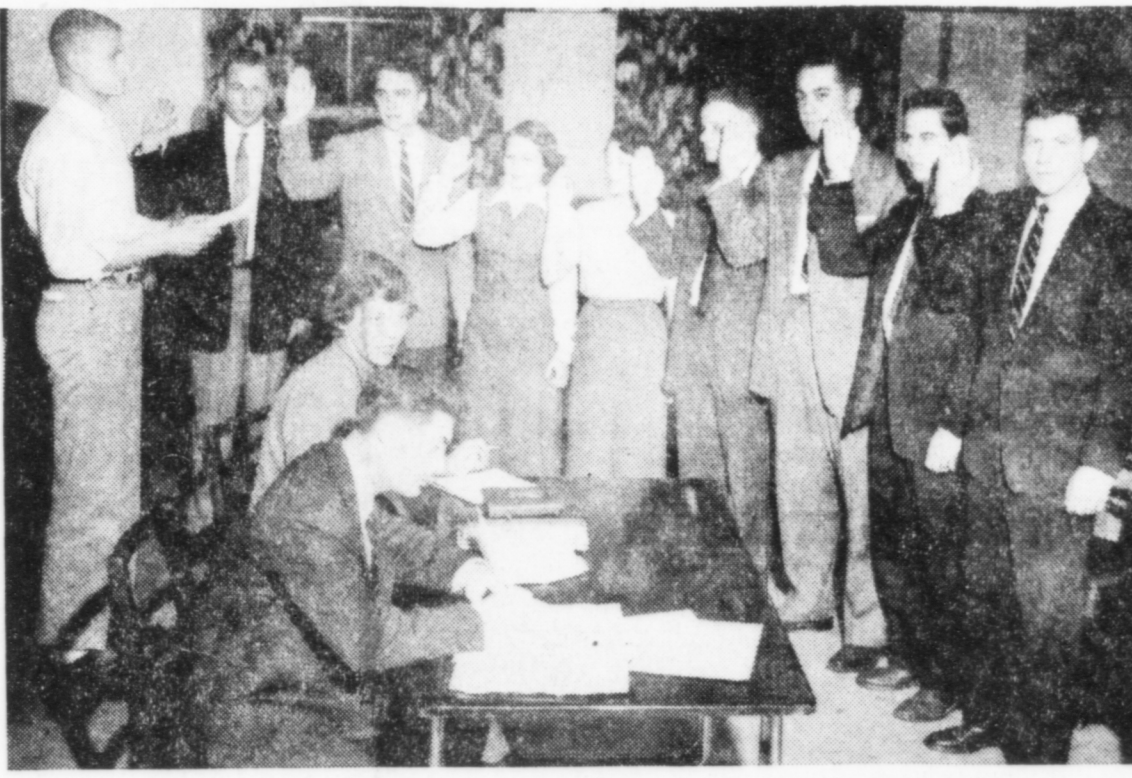

Carol Demy, junior journalism major — Secrecy in all Judiciary Committee cases is the best policy. Even though this practice might have a tendency to start false rumors and mis-information, usually all rumors must have some basis for starting, and there would be none in this instance.

Charlie Fitch, freshman from Evansville — Something must be done to lower the amount of misconduct and petty crimes among students. Perhaps the publishing of statistics and information of all Judiciary Committee action would help. I wouldn't want to print any names of the individuals concerned though.

Joyce Ann Kane — I do not believe that any of the Judiciary Committee's action should be published or made known to the student body. It is none of their business. However, I do believe that a responsible University official should be able to find out about student punishment.

Joe Coyle, senior from New Orleans — I disagree with the present system. I think that the details and circumstances of all disciplinary

Nine Will Enter Annual Collegiate Debate Tourney

Nine UK students will take part in the annual Kentucky Inter-Collegiate Debate Tournament to be held Saturday at Centre College, Danville. Dr. Gifford Blyton, coach of the team, has announced.

Two affirmative and two negative teams will debate the question, "Resolved, we should adopt the policy of free trade" against teams from Centre, Eastern State College, Asbury College and several other Kentucky colleges. Three rounds of debate are scheduled during the day.

Affirmative teams taking part in the debate tournament will be made up of Charles English, James Dundon, Wayne Carroll and Lester Wise. George Shadoan, William Douglass, Dale Nathan and Jacob Mayer will serve as negative team members. Ted Creedman will act as alternate.

The inter-collegiate debate tournament, held at a different Kentucky college each year, is attended by members of debate clubs and groups from each college.

Accompanying the debaters to Danville will be Joe Mainous and Dr. Blyton.

League Of Voters To Hear Shannon

"The Eisenhower Administration Faces Congress," a discussion of the President's state of the union address, will be given by Dr. Jasper Shannon, professor of political science, at the next meeting of the League of Women Voters at 4 p.m. Wednesday in Room 128 of the Student Union.

An open discussion will follow the talk. Emma Belle Barnhill, president of the organization, said. This will be the last meeting of the semester.

Mrs. John Kuiper has replaced Dr. Gladys Kammerer, associate professor of political science, as adviser to the campus league, Miss Barnhill stated.

Pictures for the 1954 Kentuckian will be taken at the meeting, Miss Barnhill added.

ODK Sets Initiation For Eight Members

Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's leadership society, will initiate eight new members on Jan. 17 at the First Presbyterian Church, Jess Gardner, ODK president, has announced.

To be initiated are: Diogenes Allen, Lexington, Allen, a senior in Arts and Sciences, has a 2.7 standing and was selected for achievements in the fields of scholarship, social services, and publications.

Bryant F. Thompson, Martinsville, Va. Thompson, a junior in Arts and Sciences, has a 2.9 standing and was selected for achievements in the fields of scholarship and forensics.

Capp E. Turner, Miami, Fla. Turner is a senior in Arts and Sciences, has a 2.2 standing, and was selected for achievements in the fields of scholarship, social services, and forensics.

Frank R. Myers, Louisville, Myers, a senior in Engineering, has a 2.4 standing and was chosen for his work in the fields of scholarship, forensics, social service, and publications.

George W. Shadoan, Wickliffe, Shadoan is a junior in Commerce, has a 2.2 standing, and was selected for achievements in the fields of scholarship, social services, and forensics.

Two members of the UK faculty who will be initiated are Dr. John Kuiper, head of the Department of Philosophy and Prof. Irwin T. Sanders, distinguished professor of Sociology.

The purpose of ODK is to recognize men who attain high standards of leadership and scholarship. Gardner said. Prospective members must have a 2.0 overall standing and must be a junior or senior. Admission is by invitation.

Evans was selected as the outstanding junior in the Air Force ROTC program last year. A graduate of Berea Foundation School, he is active in basketball, baseball and tennis at the University.

Selected as wing executive for the current school year was Cadet Lt. Col. F. C. Maggard. Two other cadet lieutenant colonels, H. R. Cox and W. E. Fluhr were picked as commanders of two groups within the detachment.

This year's wing staff includes the following cadet officers: Maj. G. J. Wertheim, Capt. H. T. McHenry, Maj. D. W. Swor, Capt. Whitney Dunlap, Maj. W. W. Douglas, Capt. C. H. Jett III, Maj. R. W. Hodges, Capt. J. P. Richardson, and Maj. N. R. Boggess.

Executive officers for the two groups of the detachment are Cadet Maj. B. J. Yeiser, and Cadet Maj. Jim Yonkos.

Squad commanders for the two groups follow: Maj. J. M. Steinberg, Major C. E. Turner, Maj. P. E. Faulkner, and Maj. J. B. Hall, Maj. W. E. Mitchell and Maj. J. D. Christian.

Staff members of both groups are: Capt. T. M. Murphy, Capt. W. A. Garrard, Capt. R. G. Rose, Capt. R. L. Huffman, Capt. W. L. Rouse, Capt. Stuart Yussman, Capt. F. T. Slayton, and Capt. R. T. Valentine.

Judiciary Body Starts Debate On Methods

Privacy Necessary, Palmer Comments

If the 1954 Student Government Association decides that the judiciary committee isn't representative of the student body, reorganization of the committee may be first on the new year's legislative program.

Charles Palmer, Constitutional and member of the judiciary committee, told SGA's opening session that "some people say we are not representative of the student body."

Local Bank Plans To Hold Contest On Will-Drafting

A will-drafting contest for University law students will be sponsored during the spring semester by the Security Trust Company of Lexington, according to H. Leroy Austin, vice president of the bank.

The Lexington firm will award three prizes, totaling $175, to the winners of the contest. The competition will be open to all UK law students enrolled in their final year of law study, and to any other students who may be enrolled in the course in estate, inheritance and gift taxation during the spring semester.

Judges of the contest will be three or more practicing attorneys, members of the Kentucky Bar, selected by the Fayette County Bar Association. The faculty of the College of Law will initially select the 12 best entries and turn them over to the judges for their selections for prizes.

It is expected that the contest will be an annual event. In any future year, a student who has competed will be ineligible to compete again.

A set of hypothetical facts will be given from which each contestant will draft a will. These facts, as well as contest rules, are available in the office of Law College Dean Elvis Stahr.

First prize will be $100, second prize $50, and $25 will be awarded as third prize. Prizes will be presented at Law Day next semester.

All completed instruments must be submitted to the professor in charge of the course in estate, inheritance, and gift taxation by April 1.

Evans Chosen Cadet Colonel

Bill Evans, UK senior, has been appointed cadet colonel in the University's Air Force ROTC program and will serve this year as wing commander of the local unit, it has been announced.

Announcement of Cadet Col. Evans' appointment was made by Col. Robert S. Larson, professor of air science and tactics. Also released were the names of cadets selected to make up the detachment's wing and group staffs and squadrons.

Col. Larson said that Evans and the cadets were chosen for top positions by a board of officers on the basis of scholastic standing, leadership ability and attitude. Also considered were the comments submitted last year by individual cadets in rating each other.

Evans was selected as the outstanding junior in the Air Force ROTC program last year. A graduate of Berea Foundation School, he is active in basketball, baseball and tennis at the University.

Selected as wing executive for the current school year was Cadet Lt. Col. F. C. Maggard. Two other cadet lieutenant colonels, H. R. Cox and W. E. Fluhr were picked as commanders of two groups within the detachment.

This year's wing staff includes the following cadet officers: Maj. G. J. Wertheim, Capt. H. T. McHenry, Maj. D. W. Swor, Capt. Whitney Dunlap, Maj. W. W. Douglas, Capt. C. H. Jett III, Maj. R. W. Hodges, Capt. J. P. Richardson, and Maj. N. R. Boggess.

Executive officers for the two groups of the detachment are Cadet Maj. B. J. Yeiser, and Cadet Maj. Jim Yonkos.

Squad commanders for the two groups follow: Maj. J. M. Steinberg, Major C. E. Turner, Maj. P. E. Faulkner, and Maj. J. B. Hall, Maj. W. E. Mitchell and Maj. J. D. Christian.

Staff members of both groups are: Capt. T. M. Murphy, Capt. W. A. Garrard, Capt. R. G. Rose, Capt. R. L. Huffman, Capt. W. L. Rouse, Capt. Stuart Yussman, Capt. F. T. Slayton, and Capt. R. T. Valentine.

Palmer, referring to the judiciary committee's policy of handling student violations and problem cases behind closed doors, explained that the policy was followed because of "the personal nature" of many of the cases. He compared the committee's policy to courts which handle domestic and juvenile cases.

After asking assembly members to consider the matter, Palmer defended the committee, terming its actions "fair as possible" and saying "we think we have a pretty good system."

Some of the judiciary's functions are the handling of traffic violations and fines, infractions of University rules and regulations by students, and cases involving students who, for any reason, make themselves eligible for suspension or expulsion from the University.

In the absence of Deward Johnson, chairman of the judiciary committee, Palmer swore in new assembly members elected Dec. 16.

They included David Noyes, Const., Commerce lowerclassman; Alan Steilberg, Const., Engineering upperclassman; Barbara Ashbrook, Const., Arts and Sciences lowerclassman.

Ann O'Rourke, Const., Arts and Sciences upperclassman; Bill Billiter, US, Arts and Sciences lowerclassman; Jim Buell, US, Graduate School representative-at-large; Bill Moody, US, Agriculture upperclassman, and John Kuegel, US, Agriculture lowerclassman.

Carter Glass, SGA president, urged new members in the assembly to carry out their platforms, saying that "out of the 25 planks contained in your platforms, you should find new ideas and projects."

Ann O'Rourke, Constitutional, and John Y. Brown, United Student, were elected to attend the Southern Students Conference at the University of Mississippi, Oxford, Miss., on Jan. 9 and 10. They will officially represent SGA at the conference, held to provide discussions of student government problems in Southeastern Conference colleges and universities.

The next SGA meeting will be held at 7 p.m. in Room 128 of the Student Union on Jan. 18.

Trustees Accept University Gifts Totalling $9,185

Gifts totaling $9,185 were accepted for the University of Kentucky recently by the Board of Trustees. Donors and their gifts include:

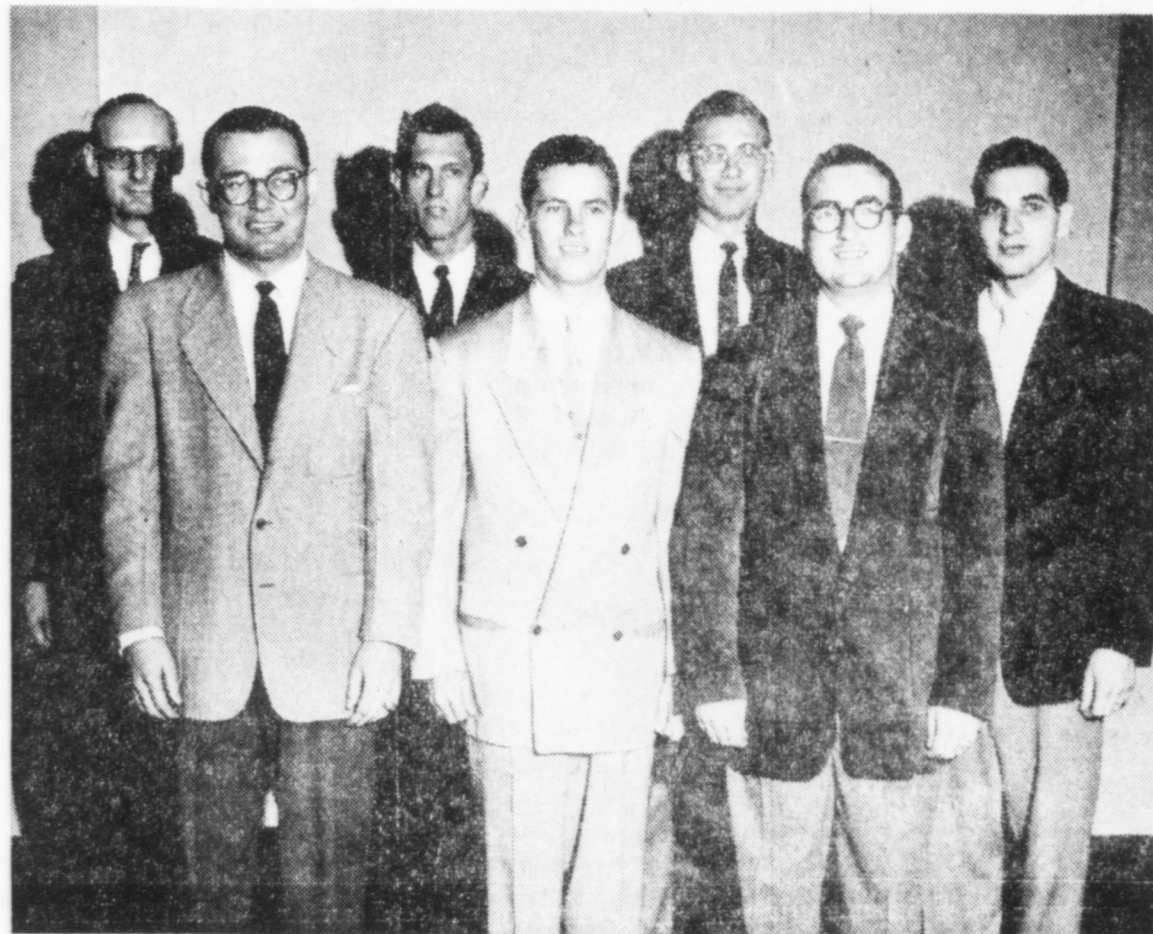

Distillers Feed Research Council Inc., Cincinnati, $5,000 for a grant-in-aid to the Agricultural Experiment Station for support of the project, "Factors Affecting the Utilization of Low Quality Roughage of Stocker Steers."

American Dairy Association of Kentucky, $1,935 to be used in the agricultural extension consumer-education program, with headquarters in Louisville; Henry Fruedenicht Co. Inc., $1,000 to be used in support of the swine research program, especially that part dealing with swine nutrition.

Pan Hellenic Association of the University, $500 to the Kentucky Research Foundation as a gift to the Frances Jewell McVey Scholarship Fund; Hazelet and Erdal, consulting engineers, Louisville, $500 to the Research Foundation to establish the Hazelet and Erdal Scholarship; R. R. Dawson, Bloomfield, $250 to the Research Foundation for the R. R. Dawson Fund of the College of Engineering.

Brinly-Hardy Co., Louisville, a Morrill rake valued at $438, for use at the Western Kentucky Agricultural Substation, Princeton.

Present for the quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees were: Governor Lawrence Wetherby, Frankfort; Carl Dempewolf, Henderson; Mrs. Paul G. Blazer, Ashland; John C. Everett, Maysville; Harper Gatton, Louisville; R. P. Hobson, Louisville; Smith Broadbent, Cobb; Guy Huguette and Dr. Ralph Angelucci, Lexington; President H. L. Donovan and Frank D. Peterson, secretary and treasurer.

University Records Successful '53, Should Attain New Heights In '54

1953 has been an eventful as well as successful year in the history of UK. Looking through the files of last year's Kernels, we came across some of the highlights of the past year.

Shortly after the first of the year, Dr. Frank L. McVey, former president of the University and beloved professor, died after an illness of several weeks.

Coach Adolph Rupp and his Wildcats introduced a basketball clinic which turned out to be an enjoyable and profitable program for both the intramural teams and spectators. Another "first" on the University campus was the Shakespeare Festival, sponsored by UK and several other Kentucky colleges. The series of plays presented by the colleges drew appreciative audiences.

Other educational and cultural events presented during the first few months of 1953 include the Horace Heidt Talent Show, featuring UK's own Deltones and Pat Herren; the Boston Pops Orchestra; Vladimir Horowitz, concert pianist; and a Gershwin Festival. In the fall the concert series presented Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians; the DePaul Chorus; and St. Paul's Choir.

In the way of lecturers, the University can boast of having several notable speakers, including Dr. Ralph Bunche, director of the UN Trusteeship Council, who drew an overflow crowd of 1,600 in Memorial Hall, and former Vice President Alben Barkley, who spoke at the annual Law Day ceremonies. Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times, and Oran Hale, history professor at the University of Virginia, spoke on the campus in the Blazer lecture series in the fall. In the Community Concert and Lecture Series, "Town Meeting of the Air" was presented in Memorial Coliseum.

UK itself provided a number of entertaining events, among them Guignol's production of "Born Yesterday," "Love For Love," "An Inspector Calls," and "Come Back Little Sheba."

Several controversial issues arose during the year. On the campus the University was charged with discrimination against foreign students, when a bulletin posted in the men's dorms drew criticism. The bulletin was removed and the matter finally dropped. Local newspapers published a story about the discovery of liquor in girls' purses at the Interfraternity Council dance last spring, which resulted in a good bit of bad publicity for the University. However, the accounts were proven to be distorted.

The serving of oleo in the University cafeteria was the cause of heated discussion for a short while. As a result the cafeteria is now offering both butter and oleo. A half-million dollar gambling suit filed against Coach Rupp brought about nation-wide publicity. The charges were later dismissed. Another controversy arose when the UK barbershop was cited for posting its prices. The University removed the price list.

UK can be credited with several outstanding accomplishments during last year. Its building program is going along smoothly with six new residence halls and a dormitory being constructed for men, and a women's dorm to be built in the near future. Deserving special mention is the achievement of the UK fraternities which have been recognized as attaining the highest scholastic standing of any university in the country.

In the sports department, the Wildcat football team gained national recognition and almost won a trip to a Bowl game after completing a progressively successful season.

It would be impossible to list all of the highlights of the past year. Only a comparatively few have been mentioned above. But in looking to the future, we should bear in mind both the achievements and mistakes made in the past, in aiming for new and even higher goals in 1954.

Publicity Seeker Sen. McCarthy Unconvincing In 'Protector' Role

McCarthy's is a unique role. He is out to save us, to protect us from the malignant threat of radicalism, to preserve the inspired flame of liberty. He often says so himself. But we wonder, really, if Senator McCarthy is really protecting us from anything. His actions often remind us of a man running through a powder plant, screaming "fire" in hopes of finding, at least, a trace of smoke to justify his action.

First, it should be understood that Senator McCarthy is not adverse to publicity, good or bad, so long as it is publicity. Unfortunately, it is not hard for him to get this publicity. All he has to do is to tell us, repeatedly but ambiguously, that the things we have come to believe in, the ideals which we associate with the American way of life, and, indeed, the American way of life itself, are being threatened.

Since we can assume that our guardian senator regards Communists as being anti-American, it is even more reasonable to assume that anything which strikes McCarthy as being against McCarthy becomes Communism, since McCarthy is so obviously pro-everything-American. In his milder moments, our faithful guardian of Americanism diagnoses the various, radical shades of pink which, he believes, threaten to break out into an evil red rash on the fair skin of our nation.

Occasionally, it must be admitted, the senator does flush out random coveys of Boishevism. Then we receive full benefits of the sound and the fury, the TV investigations, the acrid, but vague statements which all go together to herald McCarthy's admonition of imminent doom to the public.

Because of all these things, we came up with a few questions about the man—questions that the public finds itself asking more and more each day. These are the kinds of questions that would have helped us immensely had they been asked long ago.

Who is this man who accuses men of being unloyal for using the Fifth Amendment to protect themselves against self-incrimination? And we answer, the same man who uses his senatorial immunity for the same general purpose—to avoid having to incriminate himself by being explicit instead of vague.

Who is this man who, even when explaining that he is protecting our freedoms, denies, verbally, the right of a man to express a political belief if it clashes with McCarthy's belief?

Who is this man who, even while bitterly contending that no man has the right to loyally oppose his beliefs, accuses men of being disloyal when they express their own beliefs?

Using the scientific method, we have formulated what we believe to be the ultimate fate of this man of ambiguities, this crusader against intellectual freedom, the Cotton Mather of thought.

Observation—Fire and gunpowder do not mix with peaceful results; Recording—Putting this fact into the public eye; Hypothesis—Explosions occur when fire and powder mix; Qualitative experiment—The occasional explosions of indignation from the public, the powder, and McCarthy, the fire; Theory—A big explosion will occur some day; Quantitative experiment—Seeing how much heat it takes to ignite the public.

Therefore, we have what we hope is not a bit of optimism, but a valid theory, i.e., someday McCarthy will blow himself off the keg of public support by repeated friction between his ideas of freedoms and what we know our freedoms to be.

Signature Forger Lacks Character

When a person lowers his standards to the point of signing another person's name to a document, the action amounts to forgery.

Such was the case recently when a student took advantage of the Kernel's Letters to the Editor column to falsify a signature. During the week of Dec. 13 a letter criticizing an editorial published on campus parking and signed, "Marvin Jones," was received by the editor. Assuming that the letter was written by Mr. Jones . . . and there was no reason to believe otherwise . . . the Kernel printed the letter and the name.

It was later learned that Mr. Jones had not written the letter at all. Instead, someone had written the letter and was evidently too cowardly to sign his own name.

The next few paragraphs are directed to this "forger" personally. . .

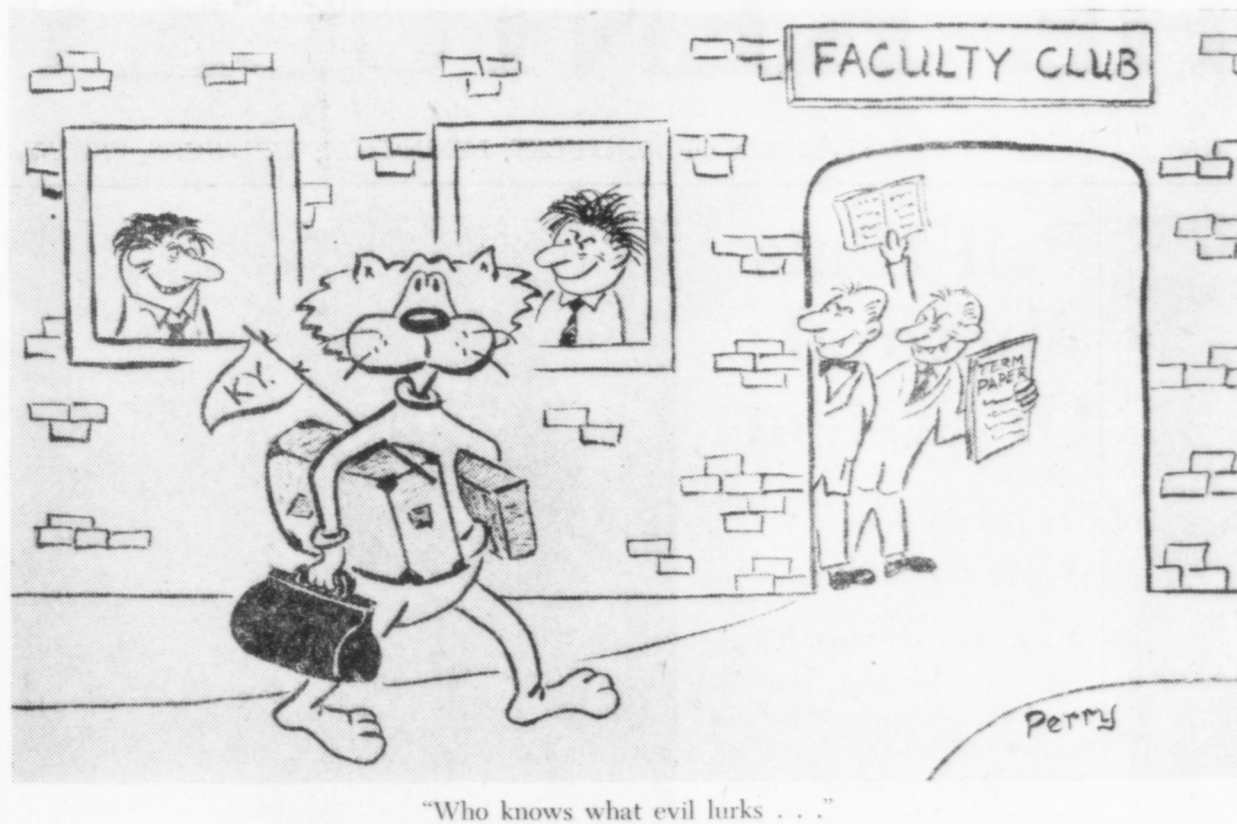

First of all, signing another person's name to a letter, especially in the case of publication, is a federal offense which can be punished by 20 years imprisonment. The writer of the letter might consider this fact before committing another such violation.

Secondly, the Kernel does not object to sincere criticism. The writer need not have feared that the student paper would take action just because he made a few derogatory remarks about an editorial published in one of the issues. The Kernel welcomes all comment, whether it be good or bad.

In the third place, the writer's name would never have been published, if that had been the request. Since all letters must be signed, the writer may ask that his name not be printed. In such a case, the signature is kept confidential . . . only the editor knows the name of the writer.

Lastly, if it is someone's idea of a joke, it was definitely misdirected and of moronic caliber. The Letters to the Editor column is designed specifically for sincere reader comment, and is not to be exploited facetiously.

The Kernel apologizes to Mr. Jones for the misuse of his name in the Dec. 18 issue.

'How To Marry Millionaire' Wins Laurels From Movie-Going Public

We're happy to report that "How To Marry A Millionaire" has evidently assured the success of CinemaScope. Not just because we say so, but because Monroe and company have followed the silver trail blazed by their predecessor, "The Robe"—fans have been wading knee-deep in front of box-offices from California to New York.

Now even though Marilyn M. may be the added inducement, it is only fair to admit that she runs a poor third to the talents of Lauren Bacall and Betty Grable in said picture. In fact Bogie's baby steals the show even though she suffers by material comparison to her two well-assembled cohorts.

But it is hardly the acting which makes "Millionaire" an interesting show. The screenplay is hilariously funny in a mixed-up sort of way, and the wide screen is utilized to maximum advantage in a panoramic display of bust-lines and sky-lines. The whole gang at 20th was apparently out for a good time, and though the movie occasionally gets lost somewhere between Maine's snowdrifts and Saks Fifth Avenue, a good time is had by all. This would settle the question as to whether CinemaScope is practical for other than ze grande spectacle. Monroe makes a spectacle of herself, but other than that the screen manages to comfortably enclose the slight proportions of a drawing room without too much strain.

Since there appeared to be some ruffled feelings over our review of "The Robe," we are now presenting testimony from the drama editor of the Cincy Enquirer. Says he: "I don't include 'The Robe' on my list (of the 10 best pictures) because it was the CinemaScope presentation rather than its melodramatic story that made it impressive. It was . . . uneven in dramatic legitimacy, in my opinion." Thank you, sir. . .

Well, Christmas week produced a series of zany incidents from the inhabitants of the Hollywoods. Flyboy Howard Hughes tiffed again with the censors. We thought the Breen Office looked a trifle silly when it denied a seal of approval to "The Moon Is Blue," but even star Janie Russell agreed that her latest Hughes production was off-color in places a la "The Outlaw." "The French Line" in 3-D is evidently just too much for the first row, but Hughes (a guy who consistently turns out bad movies at R-K-O) is again leading a dubious crusade. Shame on you.

Meanwhile Marlene Dietrich, a bonafide grandma, showed the paid customers that there was life in the old girl yet, when she showed up at her Las Vegas nitery engagement in an evening gown with a transparent top like the new Mercury. We can't see the wisdom in this, but we suppose it does distract from Miss Dietrich's by-gone musical talents. There's nothing like growing old gracefully.

But the little Miss Terry Moore gets our booby-prize for the month. It seems Miss Moore before being okayed for a brief U.S.O. tour to Korea was asked not to perform a planned semi-strip to an ermine swim-suit. She did the act anyway and the story was released that she had been ordered back to the U.S.A. Well, 10th Corps h-q of the Eighth Army denies issuing the order, and the Hollywood co-ordinating committee denies same, so it would appear that someone is lying, namely a trigger-brained press-agent.

Terry Moore has been accused (quote) of being publicity mad, and (we apologize if we're wrong) this whole furor bears the ear-marks of a cleverly arranged publicity stunt.

We knew our G.I.'s were over there for some reason—to further the career of this foggy actress, naturally. It worked pretty well. Miss Moore got more newspaper space and bally-hoo than Pfc. Joe Q. Smith who died on a muddy slope near Seoul, but Joe Smith wouldn't have cared for a newspaper plug anyway—he was just doing his job. Miss Moore had a job to do too—as an entertainer of some homesick dogfaces. It's kinda cold over there right now, but if Miss Moore couldn't sleep nites, it probably wasn't the weather.

Our Readers Speak . . . Explanation Needed

Dear Editor:

It seems obvious from the controversy over Mr. Topping's letter of racial prejudice in the Dec. 11 issue of the Kernel that the meaning of his message was quite in doubt. I know that to be a fact, for practically everyone I talked to about it thought, as Mr. Slack did, that it was a straight opinion and not a satire. I had to read it several times myself to decipher the meaning.

Since it was a poorly written satire, with just enough fuzzy sarcastic phrases to confuse readers, it should have been accompanied by an explanatory editor's note distinguishing it as that type of writing.

The Kernel should have recognized it as difficult to understand before it was printed, and either omitted it or explained it. As it was, the letter was published, creating much ill feeling toward Mr. Topping, who had good intentions but did not express them too well.

Thanks Wildcats

Dear Editor,

I thought I'd write you at the Kernel so you could forward this thank-you note to Col. Adolph Rupp.

We at Duquesne University would like to thank the Kentucky Wildcats for their able assistance. Our beloved Dukes have done everything to take the headlines away from the Cats (we've even played our student manager and run up scores like crazy) and we'll soon overtake the Cats as the No. 1 team.

But we don't want to deny any credit to UK. By fooling around in the first half with Xavier and

By RONNIE BUTLER

"Get serious, will you?"
"I am serious, AND I WANT TO GO BACK!"
"Why? You know it's impossible. Just give me two good reasons why I should let you go back."
"OK, first we'll take a look at the international scene."
"What does that have to do with it?"
"Plenty. France is in a mess."
"Why, sonny? Did someone outlaw the can can?"
"Worse. Someone sure as fire ratified the can't can't."
"I don't understand. Can't can't what?"
"Can't be convinced that Germany must be armed, can't achieve any political harmony, can't understand that she's an important member of NATO, can't. . ."

"Well, you do have a point."
"And then there's Germany, poor thing."
"Why call her poor? Her economy's better than any other nation's in Europe, she's being rebuilt so fast. . ."

"Poor because unity between East and West Germany is impossible, poor because she lies in Russia's path in case of war, poor because she must be rearmed but doesn't quite know if she wants to carry guns again, poor. . ."

"Ummm. Go on, I'm getting the point."
"Next we come to Japan. She too has to face being rearmed. But, before that her constitution must be changed, and before that she must find political unity, and before that. . ."

"Uh huh. Continue."
"Take Russia. She's in a horrible mess. Poor of Beria getting the axe, and all that, the politburo waiting fearfully for another purge, fear of too much power by the army, farm production falling off, set-back in Korea. . ."

"Any more?"
"Definitely and infinitely. China, for instance. She's beginning to find Communism a heavy burden. You know, after the first year or so of building new roads and things like that the Commies start asking a lot. Like men for Korea and Indo China, food products, weapons, loyalty. You know?"

"You mentioned Indo China?"
"Horrible situation. Laos, Cambodia, maybe Siam threatened by Vietnam Reds, French troops fighting to keep her from being divided like Korea war, famine, disease. . ."

"You very definitely have a point."
"Let me tell you some more. Like Africa. There we have millions of people awakening to the idea of independence—and the British struggling to keep them, as colonies, intact. There are the Mau Mau terrorists, bloodshed in Egypt every day, certain disgusting leaders in the Union of South Africa. . ."

"Is there more?"
"Pakistan and India. There we have an apparently blind Nehru whipping his people into hysteria and threatening another war because Pakistan is receiving a little aid from the United States—although India gets just as much if not more aid."

"Anything else of interest?"
"Well, to pass the Israeli-Arab bloodshed for a moment, we come to the situation in South America. Communists getting a stronghold because a certain northerly neighbor relaxed her Latin-American policies."

"Horror! What about the United States?"
"I see you finally reached the highpoint of my little tirade against the world in general. First on the list, quite naturally, are investigations which accuse and smear but don't prove anything."

"Yes?"
"And then there's the ruling on segregation, to be handed down later."

"Yes?"
"And the cutting of funds for the armed forces and the production of weapons—at a time when Russia has already developed a pocket-sized hydrogen bomb."

"Yes?"
"Then there are smaller matters, such as increased social security benefits, taxation, wire tapping rights for the government, maybe, the possibility of a recession. . ."

"Even so, kid, you must stay. I have no choice, although your story is indeed the saddest I have ever heard."

"Aw, Father Time."

"You heard me, 1954, you've just got to stay."

"Well, all I have to say is. . ."

"Yes?"

"... HAPPY NEW YEAR!"

(Scene closes with Father Time marching off.)

CWRT Chapter Organized Here

Lexington now has an organized chapter of the Civil War Round Table.

Dr. Hambleton Tapp, assistant to Dr. Donovan announced recently that plans for the formation of a local CWRT chapter have been completed, and permanent officers would be elected "early this week."

The club was founded in Chicago, and organized for the discussion and illustration of events, battles, and other aspects of that conflict.

Dr. H. L. Donovan, University president, said that "the group is one of persons deeply interested in the Civil War, and is open to those with a genuine interest in that war. I plan to become a member of the local chapter."

Cupid Finds Holidays Busiest Season Yet

By ANN O'ROARK

'Twas the week after Christmas vacation and all through the campus hardly a creature (student) could stir, not even his coffee. But ready or not, it's back to the pencil, paper and unopened book squad because the shadow of final exams hangs low in the horizon.

However, there are a few bright spots to keep the spirits up this weekend. The Delta Tau Delta's are having a sweater party at Clifton tonight at 6 o'clock, and the AGR's, Phi Sig's, and ZBT's are holding house parties, to begin at 8 o'clock this evening.

Southern belles, pirates, and ghosts will pay their respects tonight at the SAE masquerade party. They will all arrive at 8:30 p.m. and not depart until the witching hour of 12 midnight.

After the Georgia Tech basketball game tomorrow night the TKE's will hold an open house and 12 pledges from Purdue will be the guests of honor. It seems they decided to take a vacation since it is the week before initiations at Purdue.

All the bells and rings that were celebrating the holidays were just for the Yule season. The glittering from the third fingers, left hand, of many UK co-eds goes to prove that all that glitters are not jingle bells.

Wedding Bells Ring

The weddings this Christmas have been numerous. Marilyn Summers, AZD, married Glenn Bullock, DTD; Nancy Lou Ballard, KAT, married Bill Watterson; and Joanne Ramsey, ADPI, married Loyd Jasper, Eastern.

Nov. 27 was the wedding date of Rose Marie Cotton, KAT, and Bob Noe, KA. A month later, Dec. 27, Betty Carol Fryman, KKG, married Fred Bradley, SN. Bonnie Shupert, KAT, married J. R. Quinn, PDT, on Dec. 30.

Dec. 22 Joan Patricia Moore, XO, married James Cleveland Freels Jr. Cherrie Moore, KKG, and Charles Rupert were married Dec. 28 and Pat Knadler, ADPI, and Malcomb McCoy, LXA, were also married that same day.

Jean Frazer, DZ, will be married to Paul Patrick, Triangle, on Jan. 30.

Diamonds Appear

The engagement rings even outnumber the wedding cakes this Christmas. Virginia Hunt, XO, is wearing the diamond of Curtis Boyd, DTD. Barbara Weesner, XO, has announced her engagement to Don Ward, PDT, Hanover University, Ohio. Nancy Patton, DDD, is engaged to Billy Dick Reed, DTD and Barbara Minty, DDD, is wearing Jim Hennessy's ring.

Barbara Beraw, DDD, is engaged to Larry Kemper and Susan Clark, DDD, is engaged to Steve Dummit, PDT. Among the many other engaged couples are: Marcia McDaniels, KD, and Sonny Burton, DTD; Katy Greenwade, KD, and Don Sullivan, PKT; Maxine Whitaker and Frank B. Marnhout; Jackie Ritter, KD, and Chick Johnson; Ruth Swinford, KD, and Slick Smith; Jeannie Willis, KD, and Mike Murphy, SN; Nancy Nickerson, DDD, to DeWitt Hise; and Diane Renaker to Charles Archer.

Martha Ann Holbrook, KKG, is engaged to Jim Boyd; Barbara Smith, KKG, to Alex Huguely, PDT; and Betty Neblett, ZTA, to Lee Tucker. Barbara Jean Jones has announced her engagement to Nabih B. Mashni and Ann Quinn to Norval Lyle.

Several pins have also changed hands. Nancy Niles, KD, to Jerry Bradley, SX; Martha Bruce Morgan, AXD, to John Monarch, PKT; DeLore Kircher, AXD, to Bill Pesci, SAE; and Carol DuBow, PSS, to Stuart Yussman, ZBT.

The KA's are having a faculty tea at their house from 3 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

UK ATOM SMASHER—Part of the complex control panels used on the Van de Graff accelerator, known commonly as an atom smasher, is shown in the basement of Pence Hall, where UK physicists are busy splitting atoms and studying various aspects of atomic energy.

University Has Machine Capable Of Atom Splitting

By RONNIE BUTLER

In the basement of Pence Hall, there is a machine capable of splitting the atom—of releasing energy through the principle of nuclear fission.

The machine is a Van de Graff accelerator, or atom smasher. It whirls tiny particles of hydrogen around at high speed, and then shoots them into "targets," thereby releasing neutrons in smashed atoms.

When the atom smasher was first installed, in 1941, it was capable of producing 1,000,000 electron-volts, but, after the recent addition of a new accelerating tube, a mercury vacuum pump, and a radio frequency ion source (which produces beams of hydrogen nuclei), the voltage was raised to 2.7 million electron-volts.

Since the bombardment of heavy nuclei (atom centers) renders atoms unstable and often causes them to break up, releasing neutrons, it is possible for the Pence Hall machine to produce an atomic pile.

The breaking up of heavy nuclei releases neutrons, small neutral charges of matter which are components of atoms. These neutrons, when they strike the nuclei of other atoms, knock other neutrons free of their atoms, causing a chain reaction—the same principle used in the manufacturing of an atom bomb.

Fission, the breaking up of atoms, and the chain reaction brought about by fission under certain conditions, can be accomplished by the machine in Pence Hall.

Fission of uranium 238, for example, requires a bombardment of fast neutrons having energies between one and one and a half million electron-volts. The Van de Graff atom smasher can produce up to 2.7 million electron-volts—enough to produce fission.

Other elements, such as uranium 235, must be bombarded with slow neutrons before fission results. In order to make this possible, neutrons are passed through an atomically dense substance to slow them down. Neutrium and carbon are two such substances used for this purpose. When neutrons pass through them, they are slowed down to speeds conducive to fission.

Heavy water, which is water with Deuterium added, is frequently used for this purpose, but the UK atom smasher uses heavy paraffin, which is denser than heavy water and able to slow neutrons down to a greater degree.

Using heavy paraffin as a control medium, the UK atom smasher could be used to produce an atomic pile, a mass of uranium releasing energy through slow fission brought about by bombardment of the uranium with slow neutrons.

The atom bomb utilizes energy released when two masses of pure uranium are brought together at great speed.

Three Musicians Attending Clinic

Three representatives from the University Music Department are attending a band clinic at the University of Illinois which opened Thursday and closes Saturday.

The representatives are J. W. Worrell, assistant professor of music; Warren Lutz, instructor in the Music Department, and Ashley Ward, junior music major.

Guignol Schedules Tryouts Sunday

Tryouts for the next Guignol production, "Begger's Opera," will be held at 2 p.m., Sunday in the Guignol Theater. No special musical ability is needed for the 35 singing and dramatic parts that will be casted. Mrs. Lolo Robinson, assistant director, said.

Kentucky Stops Xavier For Eighth Victory, 77-71

The Kentucky cagers celebrated their 11th anniversary of having not lost a game in 115 on their home floor by topping a fighting band of Xavier Musketeers last Monday evening at the Coliseum, 77-71.

The Cats must have had their minds on the huge cake presented to Coach Adolph Rupp before the game by the Lexington Herald-Leader as they ran hotter and colder during the first and second periods respectively than any other game this year.

The Cats ran up a 22-point lead early in the game, 36-14, and held a 42-29 advantage at halftime. Hitting for 40.3 per cent of their shots in the third period, the Muskies narrowed the lead to seven points, 61-54, at the three-quarter mark.

Center Cliff Hagan topped all scorers with 20, though tied down by three men all night long. It was the superb offensive and defensive performance of Phil "Cookie" Grawemeyer which stole the show. His 17 points, highest effort of the year, plus rebounding, was partially responsible for the UK splurge to escape defeat in the late moments.

UK Fencers Open Saturday Against Powerful Indiana

The UK fencing season opens tomorrow in Memorial Coliseum when the Wildcats engage the Hoosiers of Indiana.

Last year the Indiana team defeated Kentucky handily by the score of 16 to 11. However this was mainly a result of an overwhelming defeat in one class only. Indiana swept through the epee class easily, eight to one.

Tomorrow's meet is rated a toss-up by Coach Seiler. "Last years defeat may have been avoided had we been scoring with an electrical scorer," he said. Kentucky has such a scorer which records touches and eliminates the use of judges and can detect touches which might only be separated by 1/25 of a second.

Indiana is a good team and is balanced in all three classes. They will be especially outstanding in the epee with the addition of an exchange student from Sweden, who represented Sweden in the International meet held in Brazil this summer. They also possess the top Big-

Ten epee man in E. V. Smith.

Opposing the two top notch men in the epee class will be Kentucky's Charles Vittitoe, Bob Dodson and John Perrin.

Perrin is a new man on the squad, having only been out during this last month, and has shown some promise.

For Kentucky in the foil group will be John Whittenburg, Joe Clarke, and Al Luppenitti. Both Luppenitti and Whittenburg are returning lettermen, and faced Indiana last year.

In the final class, sabers, Kentucky will place this year's Captain Tom Prather, Lee Shine and Bill Hartley. There are three men in each class and each man must fence all the Indiana fencers in his class, making a total of nine matches in each class. With the three classes there will be 27 matches, a full afternoon of fencing.

Sunday the fencing team will go to Louisville to enter an amateur saber tournament.

Catfish Prep For Opener With Georgia Tech Squad

With the opening of the 1954 swim season only a week away, Coach Algie Reese can take consolation only in looking back at last year's undefeated squad for Georgia Tech's tank squad will be quite a test next week.

Three top members of Coach Reese's squad this year will be ineligible until the second semester. Paul Bollinger, swimming star at Louisville St. Xavier and transfer, will not gain eligibility until February. Others on the list are Captain Jack McDonald and breast stroker Dave Linkous who will be out for scholastic reasons.

Carrying the squad in the distance freestyle will be returning vets Dick Deane, Ken Glass, Gene Lewis and Jim McCabe.

In the sprint department, Coach Reese has two glints in his eyes, Roger Messick and freshman Jim Hogan. Messick rewrote SEC and UK record books last year in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle. Hogan, who hails from Fulton, has shown much promise thus far in practice. These two sprinters, plus freshmen

John Mullins, football player; Stan Levy, Lafayette produce; and another promising frosh, Bill "Ears" Lazear, make the sprint event the strongest at this point.

The backstroke will be one of the weakest with mainly frosh comprising the crew. Charles Harber, Don Lennartson, Bill Love and Lazear will hold down the event until the return of McDonald.

With the absence of Linkous, Stuart Meyer, returning vet who has shown marked improvement over last year, will be Coach Reese's main hope in the breast stroke. Lewis and Harber will double in this event.

The divers will be led by returning letterman, Lou Kariba. New additions on the diving list are Sherill Ward, frosh from Miami, Fla.; Leroy Lankston, Louisville Manual product; and Charles Farley, another Manual boy. According to Reese, the divers should be fair while weaknesses will lie in the breast and back stroke. The relay teams will be average.

The full schedule will be released next Friday.

Cagers Win During Holidays

The Kentucky Wildcats started their major drive for national top rating with a convincing 71-59 win over the St. Louis Billikens, continued with the championship of the First Annual UK Invitational and vaulted to the top of the heap as they handed the Minnesota Golden Gophers their first defeat of the season, 74-59.

The St. Louis game was played in the Missouri town on the 18th of December. Hard driving guard, Frank Ramsey, topped all netters in a contest marred by a couple of fist fights between spectators behind the UK bench. The three big guns for UK were the seniors who played in the last meeting between the two clubs which the Billikens won in the finals of the Sugar Bowl tourney.

The Billikens tried several styles of defense against the Wildcats but found none to solve the rapid pace set by Coach Rupp's Raiders.

The Cats jumped to an early 12-8 lead and were never headed. The score at the quarters was 20-12, 31-24 and 57-42 and after being pressed late in the fourth period lowered the lead to the final score, 71-59.

Wildcats 74, Minnesota 59
Another revenge game was won by the Wildcats as they evened the count for the defeat handed them by the Gophers in 1952.

Ramsey again was high with 23 points followed by Cliff Hagan with 20 markers. Ramsey had to share high honors with the hot shot forward for the Gophers, Dick Garmaker who also tallied 23.

The Gophers kept up the Cat pace during the first half, tying the score seven times. The Cats lead, however, 18-15 and 36-30 at the end of the first two periods. The Cats didn't pull away until early in the final period when they gained a 1 point advantage.

Big Lou Tsioropoulos, leading the defensive movements of the Cats, went to the bench with 2:35 gone in the third period and the hopes sagged but he was replaced by forward Hugh Coy who played consistent but not outstanding game to keep even with the Gophers. The presence of big Ed Kalafat, star of the win over the Cats in 1951, was posted on Hagan but his efforts were in vain. The big center proceeded to foul out.

His six points in this game was way off the total of 30 racked up in 1951. Thus the Cats were shoved back up to the Number One spot when Indiana lost to Oregon State.

Noah, after the flood subsided, opened the doors of the ark and released the animals. All of them rushed to freedom, except two snakes who lingered in a corner.

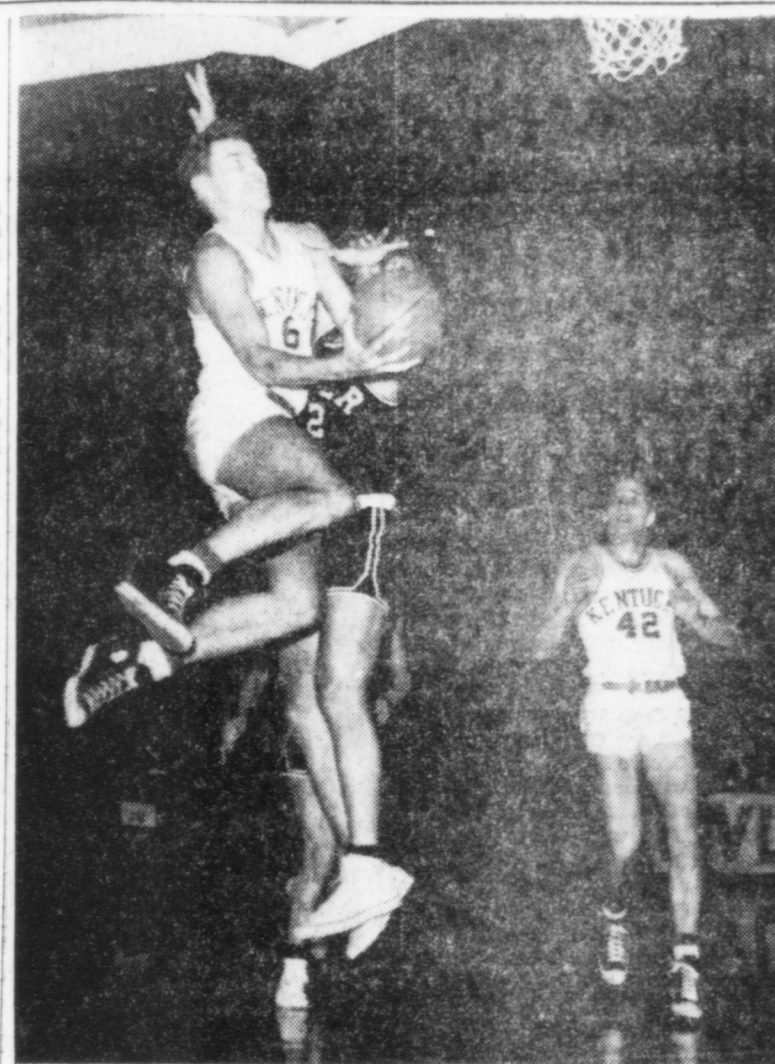

"Why don't you go forth and multiply?" asked Noah in a stern voice. "We can't," moaned one. "We're adders!"

"I wonder if Jack loves me." "Of course he does, dear. Why should he make you an exception?"

HAGAN DRIVES—Cliff Hagan demonstrates some of the ability which has made him All-America choices in all quarters as he goes for a layup in the Xavier game, won by the Cats, 77-71. Following him closely but not quite close enough is Musky center, Dave Piontek. A foul might have ensued. Watching the action intently is guard Billy Evans (White 42). The Cats won their 116th game in a row on their home floor by downing Xavier.

Georgia Tech, DePaul Next For Cat Cagers

By JOHN K. RYANS

Coach Adolph Rupp's nationally rated top Wildcats will be after their ninth and tenth straight wins without a loss as they face Georgia Tech tomorrow night and Monday evening will play host to DePaul. Both games will be played at the Coliseum and get under way at 8 p.m.

The Engineers will be the first Southeastern Conference foe to meet the Wildcats this season, as the Cats seek their 15th SEC title.

The Tech five should prove to be the first real breather on the Wildcat schedule, since they have yet to win a game this season, while losing five contests. Included in the Tech defeats are losses to South Carolina 50-45, Auburn 83-56, and Florida 63-59. In the Gator Bowl Tournament at Jacksonville the Tech crew lost to Georgia 66-64 in the opening round and to Georgia Teachers 101-80 in the consolation game.

The probable starting lineup for Tech will include: Phillips 6-1 and Anderson 6-3 at the forwards, Lentholt 6-6 at center, and Harwell 6-1 and Snead 6-1 at the guards.

Two Kentuckians are the first string substitutes for the Engineers. They are Lake Kelly 6-2, a sophomore from Fleming Co. High, and Bobby Kimmel 6-2, a freshman from Valley High. Kelly is a forward, while Kimmel operates at guard for Tech.

There will be no preliminary game to Saturday night's contest.

DePaul Here Monday
The strong DePaul Blue Demons

who will furnish the opposition Monday night, will bring a record of seven victories and three defeats into the contest.

The last time the two teams met was during the 1951-52 season with the Cats winning both contests by scores of 98-60 and later in the season 63-61 at Chicago. Last season the DePaul record was 19 wins and 9 defeats.

Thus far this season the Demons have seven victories over minor opposition and one loss to Illinois 79-65 in regular season play. In the Sugar Bowl Tournament they lost two games, one to Holy Cross (the ultimate champion over LSU) 79-55 and the other to Fordham 65-61 in the consolation game.

The DePaul offense is built around sophomore Ken Jakay, a 6-5 center, and Jimmy Lamkin, a guard who scored 440 points last season. Other starters include: Frank Blum 6-4 and Dan Lecos 6-4 at the forwards, and Ron Sobieszek 6-3 at the other guard position.

The freshman cagers of Coach Harry Lancaster will meet Ashland Junior College in a preliminary game Monday night beginning at 6 p.m.

BY LARRY MEYER

The holidays are over and the wraps have been put on the collegiate football picture with the New Year's Bowl Classics (?). They were classics all right but a few fans would like to know just what happens now.

The Sugar Bowl supposedly had one of the top games of the day with once-beaten West Virginia and powerful Georgia Tech. But all the committee ended up with was a financial success and a flop of a football game as Tech ran over the Mountaineers, 42-19.

This all happened because the Sugar committee, it is said, invited West Virginia early in the season during their peak in overrating nationally. Why wouldn't a Georgia Tech and Kentucky contest draw just as many fans and give fans a much better game?

In the Cotton Bowl, another site which UK would have like to have occupied on the First, the Rice Owls, a team which the Wildcats beat during the regular season, 19-13, trounced Alabama, 28-6. The Crimson Tide from Alabama way was declared SEC champs at the end of the regular season. Comparative scores make the Wildcats some 25 points better than their peers from Alabama. There just ain't no justice!

Irony! That's what we call it. Oklahoma set up a cry proclaiming the fact that they should be the National Champs this year after the 7-0 loss administered the Maryland Terps, listed as number one in the country at the end of the regular season.

All this happened in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day but if the Sooners fans would look back a couple of years, the cry of "We beat the Champs so why aren't we the Champs?" would be quelled.

In 1951, Oklahoma ended the regular season ranked Number One and was paired in the Sugar Bowl with a bunch of "Upstarts" from the University of Kentucky. The Wildcats preceded to knock them off, 13-7, and the same cry went up from UK fans. So what happened? Nothing.

It might be a good idea if the various polls which name the National Champs each year, wait until after January 1 so that there won't be any gripes.

We promise that we won't mention football anymore this year of basketball but we couldn't resist these little ironies.

Orchids, orchids, orchids and more to the persons responsible for the great success of the First Annual University of Kentucky Invitational which the Wildcats won, in case you hadn't heard.

All praise should be distributed in about 20,000 places: the officials who picked the teams to participate; the 19,500 fans who attended both sessions and served as ironclad proof to the invited teams that Kentucky hospitality is tops in the country; to the teams themselves for the sportsmanship shown at all times; and last but not least, credit should go to the unknown person in whose mind the whole idea originated.

All in all, the tourney was one of the most successful Holiday events in the country. Best of luck next year to an equally successful affair.

Not a surprise but a very delightful occurrence, is the showing of sophomore Forward Phil "Cookie" Grawemeyer since this column last appeared. Cookie has finally worked his way into the starting lineup and has scored 43 points in the last four games to average 12 points. His previous average for the first four games was in the neighborhood of seven points per game.

We have known all along that he was much better than a seven-point-per-game-man. Keep it up Cookie.

The defensive and offensive workhorse of the squad, Lou Tsiropoulos, has sat on the bench more during the first seven games than any other starter as a result of excessive personal fouls.

According to latest statistics released, Big Lou, who draws the job of guarding the top man on the opponents scoring parade, has been benched five times in the first seven games. Yet he holds down the number three spot in scoring with a 11.3 average prior to the Xavier game when he collected 18 points.

For those who are interested in attending the Georgia Tech-UK game in Louisville on February 2, they may obtain tickets by writing to the Louisville Armory Ticket Office. The UK ticket office will not handle any tickets for that game.

For tickets to the UK-Georgia game in Owensboro on February 6, requests should be mailed to Wm. H. Thompson care of the Sports Center in Owensboro.

The Wildcats finally accomplished a Number One rating in cage circles nationally following the win over LaSalle and the loss by Indiana to Oregon State with its giant 7 foot-3 inch center, Swede Halberg. Indiana sank to third and Duquesne moved to second place.

With an undefeated season very much a possibility, the Wildcats should retain that spot for the remainder of the season.

The top 12 fraternity five's and 13 independent groups began play Wednesday night for the intramural basketball championship. Defending champions SAE and the other league winners received a first round bye and were scheduled to meet first round winners Thursday.

The Kernel will carry a full coverage in next week's issue plus a coverage of all past games which have not yet been printed.

Cats Cop First Annual UK Invitational Title

By BILL BURLESON

The Big Blue took their 113th and 114th straight home basketball games and their first annual U of K Invitational Tournament on Dec. 21 and 22 at Memorial Coliseum.

The Wildcats opened the tournament with Duke and trimmed the running Blue Devils 85-69. The Cats were hard pressed until the last four minutes of the third quarter when they drew away from a 49-47 lead. The Cats reeled off 21 points to the Devil's four and racked up their 113th in a row on the home floor.

Kentucky hit 34.8 per cent of its field goal attempts on 32 successful shots of 92 tries. The Blue Devils hit 26 of 78 shots for a 33.3 average.

Bernie Janicki and Ronnie Mayer each scored 14 points for Duke with Joe Belmont getting 12. It was Duke's second loss in seven games.

Cliff Hagan led all scorers with 27 points although he sat out the last 12 minutes. Frank Ramsey with 19 and Lou Tsiropoulos with 15 were next in line for the winners. All 12 members of Kentucky's tournament squad saw action.

Championship Game
As a game that was billed a scoring battle between two All-Americans the finals of the tournament was a flop due to the dragnet by which Lou "Plato" Tsiropoulos covered LaSalle's Tom Gola. Hagan got 23 points while Gola got 16.

The Cats, sparked by sub "Cookie" Grawemeyer, had a 28 point last quarter and won going away by the score of 73-60.

The Cats found the going rough in the first quarter and found themselves trailing 13-4 with three minutes to go in the quarter. The tall Explorers were taking virtually every rebound and it looked as if the Kentuckians' long home streak was about to end. Then Rupp put in Grawemeyer and the Cats had themselves a 16-13 first quarter lead.

The Big Blue led by five at half-time and seven at the end of the third frame. They had opened the lead to eight points early in the fourth and remained from eight to 15 points in front the rest of the way.

THEY STARTED OUT EVEN AT GRADUATION:

Why is one doing better now?

You may not see it in their outward appearances — but there's a big difference between these young men. One has held three jobs in the five years since graduation. He's still looking for a job that offers him a lifetime career. The other has been with a Bell Telephone Company during that time. He's on his way up!

Seventy-five per cent of college men hired by the Bell Companies since World War II are still with these telephone companies after five years! Here's why:

Telephone Work Is Interesting — You may train to supervise forces engaged in constructing, installing or maintaining telephone facilities; or to manage groups of people handling customer contact, accounting or statistical work. You may work on engineering problems or be engaged in planning or other important staff activities, such as personnel relations, public relations, or revenue studies.

You Grow with a Growing Business — The Bell System is one of the fastest growing businesses in the world. Since the end of World War II, it has spent about nine billion dollars for new construction. The past five years have seen the introduction of network TV transmission, dialing of Long Distance calls and the development of the remarkable transistor. And the next five years will bring many more changes. In addition, each year the number of college people hired is related to estimates of the number of future management positions to be available.

No matter what your military status, it's worth inquiring about Bell System employment opportunities. Your Placement Officer has the details. See him soon. And be sure to talk to our employment representatives when they visit the campus. The time to plan your future is now!

Hunger Influences Visitor To Witness Cage Game

By JOHNNY STRACHAN

It all started last Saturday, when I loaded my tobacco on my o' Model A Truck and headed for Lexington. I'd heard the market was high and I could make next year's feed bill by sellin' quick.

I rambled in town, put my crop up for sale, and headed for the main street. After jest a sittin' and a starn' at the tall buildings for a while, the pangs a hunger started gettin' to me. I went back to the truck lookin' for my sandwiches, but by wife Matilda must a forgot to pack them, she did!

By this time I was so starved I decided to go plumb wild and buy my dinner. I ambled up one of the streets in town 'til I bumped into a youngun'. I asked him where it was he was a headed. He said he was goin' to see the Gophers get tromped, he did. I didn't know what he meant by tromped but Gopher meat sounded plain old delicious to me, so I followed him.

We walked a ways and the farther we got the more people we kept runnin' into. Thar was goin' to have to be a mess a Gophers to fill up a mob like thet. All of a sudden the crowd stopped movin' and jest stood around a tuggin' and a pullin'. I looked up and got the shock of my life. There before me was the gol dandest, most monstrous cow barn I'd ever seen, it was.

A man pushed through the crowd toward me yellin', "Get them while their hot," and wavin' a bunch of tickets. Naturally supposin' I'd need one to get my share of the Gophers, I bought one. For the price I paid I thought they must be tender meat. No sooner did I buy thet ticket did I get pushed through a door and a man took it away from me, he did!

I was shoved through a hall with cases of gold milkin' buckets on each side and carried into a hay loft the size of Texas. But there weren't no hay there, jest two crowds a people on opposite sides sittin' and starnin' at each other and blinkin' to the rhythm of a real tub thumpin' band at one end of the floor.

All of a sudden it was quiet like a funeral, and a voice out of nowhere started sayin' prayers. It sounded like grace and I could taste them Gophers already, I could.

Then all tarnation broke loose. A bunch of fellars in blue and white underwear came out on thet thar floor and people jest hollered fit to kill. It then dawned on me I'd got in the wrong place, 'cause some other fellars with Gophers written on their chests appeared. Some mighty peculiar things began to happen.

First one group of fellars would take a balloon and run with it. They was awful clumsy, 'cause they kept droppin' thet balloon and pickin' it up. Then they'd throw it through a fishing net stuck on the wall. Seemed like a huge net to me but them fellars musta had stilts in their shoes 'cause tweren't high for them.

It was a real friendly game though, 'cause they was always wavin' at each other. Both groups did this till somebody blew a fog-horn, then thet thar barn emptied out right quick. Hunger got the best of me and I got up and left.

On the way out a stranger asked me if I wasn't stayin' for the second half. I told him I weren't goin' to sit around and watch a bunch of fellars run around in their underwear catchin' pneumonia while I starved.

Next day I picked up a newspaper and read thet among other things thar was a Cookie, a Blonde Bombshell, and a Greek God runnin' around in thet cow barn. I musta missed all the fun, 'cause they said the fellars in the blue and white ate up the Gophers. Seems that's the 15th time in a row that's happened. Saw something jest short of cannibalism, I did!

WBKY Presents Kinsey Discussion For UK Engineers

"Do the Kinsey Reports Change Our Ethics?" will be the topic of a discussion by a group of students on the UK Roundtable program to be broadcast by WBKY at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Moderator of the program will be Dr. James Gladden, associate professor of Sociology. Taking part in the discussion will be Lucy Ward, a senior in the College of Education from Georgetown, Owen Hungerford, a graduate student from Rushville, Ind., and Carter Glass, an Arts and Science senior from Gallatin, Ohio.

The program will also be broadcast at 10 a.m. Sunday by WHAS, Louisville.

Blanton To Speak At Psych Meet

Dr. Richard Blanton of the Veterans Administration Hospital will lead discussion on "Experimental Methods Employed in Clinical Psychology" at a meeting of the Psychology Club at 7 p.m. Thursday in Room 128 of the Student Union. Refreshments will be served at the meeting which is open to anyone interested in psychology.

Pre-Med Society Schedules Meeting

Dr. Jack G. Webb, Lexington, a general surgeon, will be guest speaker at the Pryor Pre-Medical Society meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Room 313 of the Student Union.

Dr. Webb will speak on "Hemiplegia," and a movie on the removal of the upper pelvis will be shown.

UK Grad Named On NDESP Slate

Orlan C. Fowler, a UK graduate and principal of Norwood school, Clarksburg, W. Va., has been named a candidate for president of the National Department of Elementary School Principals, according to information received here this week. Fowler, who obtained his M.A. degree in Administration and Supervision from UK in 1939, also obtained an A.B. degree from Salem College, Salem, W. Va.

Fresh: Sure, I voted for you in the last SGA election.

Survey Indicates Approval Of Judiciary Committee

cases should be made public. I wouldn't reveal any names as this would cause embarrassment. But all other information should be a matter of public information.

Noreen Howard, junior radio arts major — This is no one's business but the individual concerned and the Judiciary Committee. Any further publication would only lead to added embarrassment. I think the present system is the best for all concerned.

Bob Krauser, junior from Louisville — Today there is too much suspicion and undercover investigation going on in the country. By opening the files of SGA, all the petty misdemeanors committed by college students would be opened for ridicule and possible misinterpretation. All misconduct cases handled by the committee should be held in the strictest confidence.

Paul Sutton, graduate agriculture student — The present system of not announcing any cases brought before the Judiciary Committee seems to be working all right. Any public announcement would lead to added punishment for the individual; maybe there would be more punishment than the committee handed out in the first place.

The Judiciary Committee, as set forth in Article Five, Section Two of the SGA constitution, is composed of six members—five students and a faculty adviser. Two of the students are chosen from the assembly, including the chairman, and three members are selected by the assembly from the student body at large.

As stated in the constitution, "the Judiciary Committee shall adjudicate all cases of violations of established standards of conduct, and such matters of student discipline as may be referred to it by the president of the University and other administration officials, and recommend appropriate action."

Members of the committee this semester include Deward Johnson, chairman, John Redden, Jess Gardner, Charles Palmer, and Phyllis Scrivner.

SUB Committees Will Have Party

A party for all members of Student Union committees will be given at 6:15 p.m., Thursday, in the Music and Social Rooms of the Student Union. Jim Moore, vice president of the Student Union Board, has announced. Entertainment will be in the form of a talent show, Moore said.

Delta Chi Group Closes UK House

The Delta Chi house, formerly located at 339 Aylesford Place, closed shortly before the Christmas holidays. A. D. Kirwan, dean of students, said this week.

The chapter is still active and will continue to meet, Kirwan said, but the house was not full enough to be kept open.

Seven Attend Conference Of Methodist Students

Seven UK students attended the fifth Quadrennial National Conference of Methodist Students that was held in Lawrence, Kan., Dec. 28-Jan. 2.

They included Don Mosley, Rusty Evans, Charlotte Lambert, Dolores Hamilton, Lois Allen, Jo Ann Shrader, and Sally Maggard. Total attendance at the conference was 2,300.

A retreat for cabinet members will be held at 8:45 p.m., Saturday at the Student Center, 115 E. Maxwell St.

Disciples Student Fellowship "Rediscovering the Church in This New Age" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. Myron T. Hopper, professor at the College of the Bible, at the meeting of the Disciples Student Fellowship at Central Christian Church at 6 p.m., Sunday. A light supper will precede the meeting. A planning retreat for DSF members will be held at the Meriwether Lodge the weekend of Jan. 19-20.

Westminster Fellowship "Campus Gods on Trial" will be the subject of a study by members of Westminster Fellowship at their supper meeting at 5:30 p.m., Sunday at the Westminster House on East Maxwell Street.

Hillel Foundation Supper will be served to all Hillel Club members in the vesture of Temple Adath Israel at 6:30 p.m., Sunday before the regular meeting. Rabbi William Frankel announced.
